

CASE STUDY

Tasty Baking Company

CLIENT SITUATION

Founded in 1914 Tasty Baking finally decided it needed a modern home in 2009. As a result made the decision to move all bakery operations from their long-time facility in the Hunting Park section of Philadelphia to a state of the art bakery at the Philadelphia Navy Yard. To create a brand new, modern plant the company was going to need to rely on someone that knew the industry and the equipment to be installed. Hitting their delivery deadline for production at the Navy Yard was critical.

RHOADS SOLUTION

The project required the rigging, setting/installation of various pieces of equipment; ovens, mixers, proofers as well as material handling and packaging lines. They also needed to rig, set and pipe several large exterior silos to hold and distribute the raw materials. Being able to handle the diverse requirements of all of these tasks was essential. Using a combined team of our Millwright and Boilermaker skilled labor, Rhoads was able to successfully tackle all of these tasks on this over seven figure project. Working effectively alongside the other building trades was key, so effectively managing the scheduling and planning of the work was crucial.

RESULT

Tasty Baking was able to cut the ribbon on their brand new home by their target date, and Rhoads was able to successfully perform its variety of tasks on time and on budget allowing for no interruption in the delivery of the baked goods loved by so many.
